What did you think about their culture?

The culture is really different, it is really cool to just experience being in another type of the world and just see the different architecture and food is really cool.

I know they're taking another trip in 2025, are you planning to go to that one?

What did you think about the culture and traditions?

Um so they all seemed pretty laid back the whole time like they don't have a lot going on in their lives and it's definitely a lot less, a lot slower pace than like say America life is. But also it's really annoying because like nothings for free like an America you know you can get away with like not paying for certain stuff like using the bathroom or you know other stuff like that. But yk in like Italy and Greece you have to pay for everything.

What were some highlights you liked about the trip?

Um well the city of Sorento was really nice because we got to have a lot of free time there, a lot of shopping and then uh my group whenever we were exploring the city we went down by the beach and dipped our feet in the mediterranean which was really nice.

What were your favorite places that you went to and why?

Um so Sorento's up there and then also um, Pompeii was amazing because we just got to see you know how Roman life was back then so that was pretty cool.
